

Planeta Verde Forestal

Historical Review

Planeta Verde Forestal was established on April 17, 2006, in the city of Manizales-Colombia, by 3 partners who own a 100-hectare plantation of "TEAK" wood in the middle Magdalena valley. The idea was to market the plantation on the stock market. Due to the great financial crisis of the year 2008 the project was not viable. Pablo Salazar Mejia, one of the 3 partners, assumed all the shares and dedicated himself to the commercialization of wood for the international market. Initially, native forest wood from the Chocó jungles were marketed, later, the commercialization of native and of Magdalena and Cesar began economic activity that develops to date. Its main market has been Asia, particularly China and in smaller volume Vietnam. The company also accounts for smaller exports to: Spain, Germany, Holland, Poland, Slovenia, Costa Rica, USA, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Japan, and South Korea. In the last 3 years the company has exported an average of 280 containers per year of different species of wood and for the previous mentioned destinations.

MISSION

Since the beginning, the company has focused on its mission, which has always been the international marketing of high-quality tropical woods, aimed at generating value for its clients, suppliers, and the community. Guaranteeing timely delivery with competitive prices with a clear vision of being leaders in Colombia in the commercialization of tropical woods, providing personalized attention and total customer satisfaction. Always aiming to develop new high-quality product lines for all active and potential customers. Among the many values that the company implements, transparency, trust, customer service, economic, social, and environmental responsibility stand out.
